However Christmas is for you

In March 2018 my closest friend died after living with cancer for the last 12 months. She leaves three adult children, their partners, and three grandchildren. Christmas this year will be very different for them all. It will be touched with great sadness and there will be an empty place at their traditional family gathering on Christmas Day.

Theirs will not be the only Christmas celebration with an empty place. You too may have lost a loved one this year, or in years past. Every day of the year may hold an empty place for you. Christmas is one more day where that loss is felt so keenly. I am grateful to another friend for passing on a contemporary Christmas poem:

In these most sensitive of days, in tenderness, the Lord draws near.
He feels the sadness in our praise, the cheerfulness that costs us dear.
And with gentleness too deep for words, He tells that His nativity is more
Than angel songs and Christmas bells. It is for us whose hearts are sore.
That we, who love and loved so much-And feel by sorrow set apart
Should know the loving, living touch of Him, Who seeks to heal the broken heart.

This year at St Jude's we shall once again be holding a "Blue Christmas" service. The service is especially offered for those of us who feel in some way apart from the normal buzz of Christmas activity – perhaps because we are lonely, grieving, anxious or unwell. There will be an opportunity for those who wish to do so to light a candle in remembrance of a loved one who has died or in prayer for something that troubles us. The service is at 4.00pm on Saturday 22nd December. Please join us.

Our annual Christmas Carol Service of traditional Carols and Readings is on Sunday 23rd December at 4.00pm. On Christmas Eve at 4.00pm we have our Christmas Crib Service. Claudia, one of our Churchwardens, who prepares and leads this service, says: My favourite service of the year! It really packs a crowd in, young and old. There are usually enough costumes for all those under 11 to dress up, although some children come in their own costumes. We often have a host of Angels! Very occasionally we end up with more than three wise men! Last year we were blessed with a couple of Marys! The older children, and those who don't dress up, are given figures to bring up to the altar to build a crib scene.

We sing traditional, family friendly carols and songs (including "Twinkle, twinkle little star" - when we release a star-shaped helium balloon to float above the altar!), whilst the story of the birth of Jesus is intertwined and revealed. The service lasts about 40 minutes, and then we have mulled wine, juice and biscuits. We look forward to welcoming families and children who have returned many times over past years and those who will join us for the first time this year.

For each one of us, whatever Christmas 2018 may hold, it brings a reminder that God, in the greatness of His love, has come in Jesus to share all the changing circumstances of our lives. In the coming of the Lord Jesus Christ as a baby at Bethlehem God reaches out to the lonely, the sorrowing, the fearful, and the broken-hearted. But equally He stretches out His arms of love to those who this Christmas rejoice in new blessings, fresh opportunities, new relationships and renewed hopes for the future. He longs to fill those empty places in our lives; or to be the unseen guest at our celebrations.

In a misquotation of the closing words of the Christmas TV advert from one of our leading supermarket chains: However you feel about Christmas 2018 you are welcome to share with us at St Jude's as we worship the God whose love for us all is at the very heart of Christmas.
Judith Allford
